A photograph of a winter landscape. In the foreground, there are snow-covered, frost-laden bushes and branches. A person wearing a light-colored coat and dark pants stands next to a dark-colored horse. The horse is wearing a white protective sheet. In the background, several wooden utility poles stand tall, connected by a network of wires. The sky is overcast and hazy. A vertical dashed line runs through the center of the image, and a horizontal dashed line intersects it at a right angle, forming a crosshair-like frame.
