

Maria Duda, b. 1981, is an architect. MA Graduate of the Accademia di Architettura di Mendrisio in 2007, she holds a PhD in Architecture, on public spaces of Bucharest. Her professional experience started off in Switzerland – with internships within Aurelio Galfetti architectural studio, Mario Botta Architetti, and expanded with Brauen & Wälchli Architectes. Since 2009 she has been independently researching, documenting, teaching and getting involved in the use and improvement of public spaces. In 2016 she founded BAZA. Deschidem orasul, a cultural and educational NGO dedicated to connecting young professionals of Bucharest (via Urban Experience podcast on Radio Seven), conducting urban research and promoting Little Improvements through architectural and artistic interventions, workshops, events, conferences, publishing. Its mirroring architectural studio, of the same name, was recently awarded the 2nd prize for the proposal submitted to the Reclaiming the River architectural competition, in collaboration with interscalar V.O.F., Holland.

www.debaza.ro

