

Esenghiul Abdul is a practicing architect and urban designer, currently a partner in ADNBA www.adnba.ro, where she has been working since 2017 on various large scale residential projects and office developments.

She has previously worked as an urban designer in Space Syntax Ltd. in Bucharest and London, collaborating in a wide range of projects of urban redevelopment and in Romania, the UK and the Middle East, focusing in the development of the public realm as a catalyst for social and economical well-being. Before joining ADNBA she has been a partner in Beros Abdul Studio /studioberosabdul/ and worked as a landscape designer developing residential and commercial projects, she still holds a consultative role in the projects of the office.

Esenghiul graduated in 2003 from the University of Architecture and Urbanism Ion Mincu and in 2005 she finished the MSc in Advanced Architectural Studies at The Bartlett, UCL where she has acted as an honorary assistant in UCL's Faculty of Built Environment for a couple of years.